

FENWICK & WEST LLP
Trends in Terms of Venture Financings
In the San Francisco Bay Area
(Fourth Quarter 2008)

- Background – We analyzed the terms of venture financings for 128 companies headquartered in the San Francisco Bay Area that reported raising money in the fourth quarter of 2008.
- Overview
 - Up rounds exceeded down rounds 54% up vs. 33% down with 13% flat. This was the lowest amount by which up rounds exceeded down rounds since 3Q04. Perhaps more ominously, down rounds increased each month through the quarter, and for December 2008, 45% of all financings were down rounds, compared to 48% up and 7% flat.
 - A breakdown of 4Q08 financings by industry shows that Web 2.0/digital media was by far the strongest industry. When Web 2.0/digital media companies are excluded from the results, up rounds decreased to 46%, down rounds increased to 39%, with 15% of rounds flat.
 - The Fenwick & West Venture Capital Barometer™ showed an average price increase of 25% for companies receiving venture capital in 4Q08 compared to such companies' prior financing round, a significant decline from the 55% reported in 3Q08, and the lowest quarterly total since 1Q05. If Web 2.0/digital media financings are factored out the Venture Capital Barometer would have been flat (0%).
 - Anecdotal evidence indicates that there is a flight to quality, with venture capitalists focusing on funding their most promising companies, and perhaps even pulling forward financings for those companies, to make sure they have sufficient funds should the poor financing environment continue for a prolonged period, or worsen. If true, this evidence, combined with the significant reduction in U.S. venture investment in 4Q08 described below, could indicate that less promising companies are not being funded (as opposed to being funded at lower valuations) which could cause results to be skewed in a positive direction.

Other U.S. venture industry-related results for the quarter and the year include the following:

- The amount invested by venture capitalists in the U.S. in 4Q08 was approximately $5.5 billion, a significant decline from the $7.6 billion invested in 3Q08 and the $7.9 billion invested in 4Q07. The total amount invested in all of 2008 was $28.8 billion, compared to $31.4 billion in 2007.¹
- Fundraising by U.S. venture capitalists was $24.7 billion in 2008, which amount was the lowest amount raised in a year since 2004.¹
- There were 65 acquisitions of venture-backed companies in the U.S. in 4Q08, for a total of $3.8 billion, a significant decline from 75 transactions totaling $4.8 billion in 3Q08 and 123

transactions totaling $16.4 billion in 4Q07. There were 325 acquisitions of venture-backed companies in the U.S. in all of 2008, totaling $23.5 billion, the lowest dollar amount for acquisitions since 2003, and the lowest number of deals since 1999. Additionally, the age of acquired companies increased for the seventh straight year, with the median time from initial equity funding to acquisition reaching 6.5 years in 2008.¹

- There were no IPOs of venture-backed companies in the U.S. in 4Q08, and only 7 in all of 2008 (of which 6 were in 1Q08). This was the lowest annual total for venture-backed IPOs since 1992.¹
- Venture investment in IT in 2008 was down 15% from 2007, with the software segment being especially hard hit, while investment in the Web 2.0/digital media segment was up 17% from 2007.¹
- Healthcare investments fell 22% in 2008 compared to 2007, while energy investments increased from $1.7 billion in 2007 to $3.6 billion in 2008.¹
- The Silicon Valley Venture Capitalists Confidence Index™ produced by the University of San Francisco reports the confidence level of Silicon Valley venture capitalists at 2.77 on a 5 point scale, a decline from 2.89 in 3Q08 and the lowest confidence level since the index began in 1Q04.
- Nasdaq was down 24% in 4Q08 (and down 40.5% for all of 2008), and is down 9% in 1Q09 through February 25, 2009.

- The Fenwick & West Venture Capital Barometer™ (Magnitude of Price Change) –Set forth below is (i) for up rounds, the average per share percentage increase over the previous round, (ii) for down rounds, the average per share percentage decrease over the previous round, and (iii) the overall average per share percentage change from the previous round for all rounds taken together. Such information is broken down by series for Q4’08 and is provided on an aggregate basis for comparison purposes for the prior four quarters. In calculating the “net result” for all rounds, “flat rounds” are included. For purposes of these calculations, all financings are considered equal, and accordingly the results are not weighted for the amount raised in a financing.

15%	12%	7%	6%	9%	13%	10%	8%

Note that anecdotal evidence indicates that companies are increasingly using contractual “pull up” provisions instead of charter based “pay to play” provisions. These two types of provisions have similar economic effect but are implemented differently. The above information includes some, but likely not all, pull up provisions, and accordingly may understate the use of these provisions.

The pay-to-play provisions provided for conversion of non-participating investors’ preferred stock into common stock or shadow preferred stock, in the percentages set forth below:

- Common Stock.
